The creative brief your ads deserve.

One brief for Meta, TikTok, LinkedIn and Google: who you are talking to, what you say, how you test it, and the formats each platform needs.

FOR	TIME	OUTPUT
B2B marketers briefing a designer, editor or agency	45 minutes per campaign	A brief, a test plan and a spec sheet in one document

How to use this template

A good brief makes the creative team's first draft close to right. It names one audience, one problem, one promise and the proof behind it, then sets how you will judge the result.

01 Fill in the one-page brief (page 3) before anyone opens a design tool.

02 Write the message (page 4): the problem, the promise, the proof and the objection, in your buyer's words.

03 Pick hooks to test (page 5). Creative is now the main lever in most ad platforms, because targeting is increasingly automated.

04 Set the test plan and naming (page 6), so results are readable later.

05 Check the specs for each platform (pages 7 and 8) and run the pre-launch checklist (page 9).

LABELLING EXAMPLE CREATIVE

If you show ads made for illustration, such as samples in a pitch, label them "Example". Only show a client's real ads with their permission.

Campaign basics

Campaign name
Platforms	☐ Meta ☐ TikTok ☐ LinkedIn ☐ Google Search ☐ Google Display / Demand Gen / YouTube
Objective (one)	☐ Qualified leads ☐ Demo / call bookings ☐ Trials ☐ Retargeting audience ☐ Awareness
Budget and dates
Landing page URL
Brief owner / approver

STEP 1

The one-page brief

Keep each answer to one or two sentences. If you cannot, the campaign is trying to do too much.

Who exactly is this for? Role, company type, size, market
What are they trying to get done? The job, in their words
What is getting in their way? The problem this ad names
What do we offer? The specific offer in this ad: a call, an audit, a guide, a trial
Why believe us? Named proof only: case study, number with timeframe, verbatim quote with permission
What will they doubt? The main objection, and how the ad or landing page answers it
What should they do next? One call to action
Mandatories Logo use, legal lines, words to avoid
How we will judge it The metric that decides the winner, and after how much spend or how many days

STEP 2

Message: problem, promise, proof

Write three versions of each line, then pick the clearest. Use the words your buyers use on sales calls, not your internal product language.

Line	Version A	Version B	Version C
Problem What hurts
Promise What changes
Proof Why believe it
Call to action

A worked example

This uses TechDella's own published Paycape case study as the proof line.

Problem	"Your pipeline depends on outbound, and every month starts from zero."
Promise	"Get found by buyers who are already searching for what you sell."
Proof	"Paycape reached about 15,000 monthly organic visitors, with 50% of conversions from inbound, in a 5-month engagement." (Source: published case study. Re-confirm with the client before use in ads.)
Call to action	"Request a growth audit."

Proof rules

- ☐ Every number has a source and a timeframe, and the client has approved its use in ads.
- ☐ Quotes are verbatim and attributed, with permission.
- ☐ No implied guarantees ("double your leads") unless you can substantiate them; platforms and regulators treat these as misleading claims.
- ☐ Logos of clients appear only with written permission.

STEP 3

Hooks and formats to test

The first line of copy, or the first seconds of a video, decide whether anyone sees the rest. Test hooks against each other before you test anything else.

Hook type	Pattern	Works well on
Call out the reader	"Fintech marketers: ..." / "If you run a 10-person SaaS team ..."	LinkedIn, Meta
Name the pain	"Every month your pipeline starts from zero."	All
Specific result	A real number with a timeframe and named source	All (with permission)
Contrarian take	"Stop buying more leads. Fix the ones you have."	LinkedIn, TikTok
Show the work	Screen recording of a dashboard, a teardown, a before/after page	TikTok, Meta Reels, LinkedIn video
Founder or expert to camera	One person, one point, under 30 seconds	TikTok, Reels, LinkedIn Thought Leader Ads
Question	"Is ChatGPT recommending your competitors?"	All
Document / carousel	A short guide, checklist or framework people can swipe through	LinkedIn document ads, Meta carousel

Your hooks

#	Hook (first line or first 3 seconds)	Hook type	Format	Platform
1
2
3
4
5
6

Video checklist

- ☐ The point lands in the first three seconds, with sound off.
- ☐ Burned-in captions or on-screen text, placed inside each platform's safe zone.
- ☐ Vertical 9:16 master; square and 4:5 cut-downs where the platform uses them.
- ☐ The logo or brand name appears early, without a long intro.

STEP 4

Test plan and naming

Change one thing per test, decide the winner on a metric close to revenue, and name every ad so the result is readable in six months.

01 Hooks first. Same body and visual, two to four different openings.

02 Then the concept. Take the winning hook and test a different visual approach (screen recording vs. person to camera vs. static).

03 Then the offer. Call vs. audit vs. guide. This often moves cost per qualified lead the most.

04 Then the landing page. Only once the ad is stable.

PICK THE DECIDING METRIC BEFORE LAUNCH

Click-through rate tells you about the hook. Cost per lead tells you about the offer. For B2B, judge winners on cost per qualified lead or per booked meeting, which means sending CRM outcomes back to the ad platform (offline conversions or a conversions API).

Naming convention

[platform]_[objective]_[audience]_[concept]_[hook]_[format]_[version]
Example:  li_leads_fintech-cmo_audit-offer_pain-hook_doc_v2
```

Test log

STEP 5

Format specs: Meta and TikTok

Common, long-standing values. Platforms change limits and safe zones often, so confirm against the help-center pages in the sources before production. [CONFIRM current specs]

META (FACEBOOK AND INSTAGRAM)

Placement / asset	Ratio	Recommended size	Notes
Feed image or video	1:1 or 4:5	1080×1080 / 1080×1350 px	4:5 takes more screen space on mobile.
Stories and Reels	9:16	1080×1920 px	Keep text and logos away from the top and bottom of the frame, where the interface sits. [CONFIRM: current safe-zone percentages]
Carousel cards	1:1 (or 4:5)	1080×1080 px	2 to 10 cards.
Primary text	Put the message in the first line; longer text is truncated behind "See more". [CONFIRM: current truncation length]
Headline	Short; it is truncated on many placements. [CONFIRM: recommended character count]
Special ad categories	Ads about credit, employment, housing, or social issues, elections or politics must be declared, and targeting options are restricted.

TIKTOK

Asset	Ratio	Recommended size	Notes
In-feed video	9:16	1080×1920 px	Vertical, full-screen, sound on by default for many users; still caption it. [CONFIRM: recommended length range]
Ad text	Short caption shown over the video. [CONFIRM: character limit]
Spark Ads	Promote an existing organic TikTok post (your account or a creator's, with their authorization code). Engagement stays on the original post.
Safe zone	The right side (buttons) and bottom (caption, CTA) are covered by the interface. Keep text centered. [CONFIRM: current safe-zone template]

Format specs: LinkedIn and Google

Confirm against the platform help pages before production. [CONFIRM current specs]

LINKEDIN

Format	Ratio	Recommended size	Notes
Single image	1.91:1, 1:1, or 4:5 (mobile)	1200×627 / 1200×1200 px	Square and vertical usually take more feed space.
Video	16:9, 1:1, 4:5 or 9:16	Depends on ratio	Add captions (an SRT file or burned in).
Document ads	Any page size	PDF, PPT or DOCX	Can be gated with a Lead Gen Form. [CONFIRM: page and file-size limits]
Thought Leader Ads	Promote a post from an employee's or other member's profile, with their approval.
Intro text and headline	Intro text is truncated on mobile after roughly the first two lines; put the hook first. [CONFIRM: current character recommendations]

GOOGLE ADS

Format	Assets
Responsive search ads	Up to 15 headlines (30 characters each) and up to 4 descriptions (90 characters each). Write headlines that make sense in any order; pin only when legally required.
Responsive display ads	Landscape image 1.91:1 (1200×628 px), square image 1:1 (1200×1200 px), square logo 1:1 and optional landscape logo 4:1; short headline (30 characters), long headline (90 characters), description (90 characters).
Performance Max / Demand Gen	Supply the full asset set: images in landscape, square and portrait, logos, video (Google may auto-generate video if you supply none), headlines and descriptions. [CONFIRM: current asset requirements]
YouTube	Horizontal 16:9 and vertical 9:16 (Shorts) versions. Front-load the brand and the point.
Financial services	In many countries Google requires financial services verification before you can run ads for financial products. [CONFIRM: requirement for your markets]

BEFORE LAUNCH

Pre-launch checklist

- ☐ Brief approved by the owner named on page 2.
- ☐ Every claim is sourced and every client asset is used with permission.
- ☐ Each ad matches its landing page: same offer, same words, same visual.
- ☐ Landing page loads fast on mobile and the form works (test submit reaches the CRM).
- ☐ Tracking is live: platform pixel or tag and the conversions API or offline conversion import, firing only after consent where required.
- ☐ UTM parameters on every destination URL, following your naming convention.
- ☐ Ad names follow the convention on page 6.
- ☐ Specs checked for every placement; text inside safe zones; captions on.
- ☐ Special categories declared where required (Meta special ad categories, Google financial services verification).
- ☐ Exclusions set: current customers, employees, and open opportunities where appropriate.
- ☐ Budget and end dates set; a person checks spend on day 1 and day 3.
- ☐ Example creative is labelled "Example" wherever it is shown outside the ad account.
